SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT

Distribution of Foreign Stock Population: 1970

This report presents data from the 1970 census on the numbers and geographic distribution of the population of foreign stock in the United States. The figures have previously been published in various Volume I tables in the basic census reports¹ but they are being brought together here for convenient use.

Table 1 shows counts of the total foreign stock population, and of the foreign born and native of foreign or mixed parentage, separately, for the Nation as a whole, and for regions, divisions, each of the 50 States and the District of Columbia, standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's) with 250,000 or more persons, and places of 100,000 or more persons. This table also shows the total foreign stock counts of 23 countries² of origin with the same area detail.

Table 2 indicates the concentrations of individual foreign stock groups by presenting the following area detail for each foreign stock group: States having 100,000 or more persons of the particular foreign stock group; SMSA's with 50,000 or more persons of the foreign stock group; and places with 25,000 or more persons of the particular foreign stock group.³

A brief overview of the distribution pattern of the foreign stock population is as follows: Of the four regions of the country, the foreign stock population is largest in the North-east and smallest in the South; one of every six persons of foreign stock in the United States lives in New York State; California has the largest number of individual foreign stock groups of 100,000 or more persons each of any State, with 11 groups. Among the SMSA's, New York and Chicago reflect the widest variety of foreign stock—each having 13 groups numbering 50,000 or more persons.

¹ Characteristics of the Population, U.S. Summary, tables 144 and 145; and individual State reports, tables 81, 102, and 141.

² Individual countries which are shown in the Final Report, PC(1)-C1, General Social and Economic Characteristics, United States Summary.

³ Because of their size, the foreign stock groups of Denmark, the Netherlands, and Switzerland do not qualify in any of the above three categories.

Certain European foreign stock groups are widely dispersed throughout the United States. For example, 12 States have at least 100,000 persons of German foreign stock, while 15 SMSA's contain at least 50,000 persons of Italian foreign stock. Other foreign stock groups are more concentrated. Among the Asian foreign stock, persons of Japanese and Chinese foreign stock reside primarily on the West Coast. Persons of Mexican and Cuban foreign stock are most numerous in the Southwestern States and in Florida, respectively.

It should be noted that the "foreign stock" population reported on here reflects the first- and second-generation population only, based on data on the place of birth of persons and their parents. As such, the counts do not constitute a measure of the degree to which persons identify with any particular ethnic group. Nor should they be used to infer total counts of ethnic origin groups, since there is wide variation from group to group in the relationship between the foreign stock population and the ethnic origin population of the same group, depending upon recency of arrival in the United States.

DEFINITIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

The data in the tables of this report are based on a 15-percent sample and are therefore subject to sampling variability (except for counts of the total population in table 1 which are based on 100-percent data). More detailed information including definitions and technical explanations relating to the statistics presented here as well as information on sampling variability may be found in 1970 Census report Volume I, Characteristics of the Population, and subject report PC(2)-1A, National Origin and Language.

Foreign Stock. The category "foreign stock" includes the foreign-born population and the native population of foreign or mixed parentage. Persons of foreign stock thus comprise all first- and second-generation Americans. In this report, persons of foreign stock are classified according to their country of origin. Natives of foreign parentage whose parents were born in different countries are classified according to the country of birth of the father. Natives of mixed parentage are classified according to the country of birth of the foreign-born parent.

Foreign born. Foreign-born persons were asked to report their country of birth according to international boundaries as recognized by the United States government on April 1, 1970. Since numerous changes in boundaries have occurred, some foreign-born persons may have reported their country of birth in terms of boundaries that existed at the time of their birth or emigration, or in accordance with their own national preference.

Native of foreign or mixed parentage. Information on birthplace of parents is used to classify the native population into two categories: "native of native parentage" and "native of foreign or mixed parentage." The category "native of native parentage" comprises native persons with both parents born in the United States. The category "native of foreign or mixed parentage" includes native persons with one or both parents foreign born. The rules for determining the nativity of parents are substantially the same as those for determining the nativity of the person himself.

Symbols. "U" indicates an unincorporated place. A dash "-" signifies zero.
